

*Haughton
in Bloom in July*

Part 2

This speckled wood butterfly was in a leafy spot in Watery Lane.

*Teasel and bee
in Watery Lane*

Mallard at Four Lanes End

This bramble head of fruit and flower is in Dale Lane.

A sign of changing seasons as this thistle turns to seed

A speckled wood butterfly in Grassy Lane.

This broad-leaved willowherb is growing in Grassy Lane.

One of the Sunday School sunflowers has reached a great height by the church porch.

Cuckoo pint under a conifer hedge in the churchyard

'Growing for Gold' at the mountain ash on Newport Road Green

The War Memorial bed adds a splash of colour to the main road scene.

The troughs at the Village Hall are of gold and white.

The corner of Meadow Drive and Newport Road

This tub by the bus stop has many golden blooms.

One of many dwarf sunflowers in a bed on Newport Road.

One of the Newport Road tractor tyres

This flowerbed is sponsored by Driving School
Supporting the Local Community
Best Kept Village

Gold flowers abound in the tractor tyres ...

... and beds.

A bee-friendly rudbeckia

The gold is attracting the bumble bees in the roadside beds.

Common maybe, but just what the bee would have ordered.

Colourful borders and baskets in Royds Close

A slightly more unusual view of the War Memorial.

BKV prize tree and surrounding border in a garden setting.

A glorious show of gold ...

*... and more
gold*

Gold, gold and more gold on Newport Road

Dahlias are bee-friendly whatever the colour ...

... They quite like pink and salmon, too.

