

*Haughton
in Bloom in June*

Part 1

A newly-planted bed on Newport Road

This rose is thriving in the Women's Institute bed on Royds Close Green.

Escallonia at the Village Hall

Roses blooming in early June

Shrubs in flower near the telephone box

A Dale Lane squirrel

Wild roses in the hedgerows

Scented mayweed on the edge of a meadow in Dale Lane

Honeysuckle in Back Lane

*Back Lane
bramble and bee*

There are still plenty of buttercups flowering in Back Lane.

This (wet) cornfield is in Back Lane.

Hedge woundwort has shot up in Back Lane.

Gold is popping up in many planters.

A wet Watery Lane dog daisy

Hard-to-find yellow vetchling peeping out in Watery Lane

The hedge woundwort is another bee-friendly plant.

A foxglove is growing from an oak tree in Back Lane, and a bee enjoys a nearby one.

This new elder flower is in Grassy Lane.

*A Dale Lane rose, and the first two
in Grassy Lane.*

The yellow corydalis growing under a wall is very bee-friendly.

A cranesbill in the verge on Bradley Lane

This crow is making a big noise in Dale Lane.

A Dale Lane rose and insect

Jackdaws over Grassy Lane

This young long-tailed tit was walking along Grassy Lane.

Glowing Sunday School pots

A delicate, lone cuckoo flower (and guest) amongst the Watery Lane grasses

Unpopular, but pretty - ground elder in Dale Lane

