Churchyard

As always, the churchyard is looking immaculate, with neatly-cut grass and well-cared for trees and shrubs. The wildlife area is naturalising to great effect, with an abundance of bird and insect-friendly plants. To mark the 60th anniversary of the Queen's Coronation all the ironwork has been painted in black and gold.

New Tyre Planters

Three large tractor tyres were donated by local farmer David Brown in late June. They were placed on the green space opposite the Newport Road red telephone box. The tyres were filled with compost and plants before being undercoated and painted in warm grey. The flower-filled tyres make a colourful and distinctive addition to Haughton's annual floral display.
